Living Shorelines

Buffalo Niagara Waterkeeper has made significant and transformative progress for the waters in our region, benefiting all who live and work here. Not only have our efforts improved the health of the Niagara River Watershed and the Great Lakes, we have connected thousands of Western New Yorkers to their water while inspiring economic growth throughout our community.

These accomplishments have been possible because of the generous and unrestricted capacity funding provided from local businesses, donors, and foundations. In addition to our ambitious portfolio of projects, looking ahead, there are many ongoing and emerging challenges which require our attention and action, including climate change and land-use decisions. Philanthropic support from Western New York businesses is critical to our ability to advance the progress made thus far while tackling the growing threats to our environment.

By investing in Buffalo Niagara Waterkeeper as a Mission Partner, your business is part of the essential and enduring impact on the revitalization of our region's waterfront. Your investment supports all aspects of our mission, providing necessary funding across our five focus areas: Community Engagement, Scajaquada Creek, Waterway Revitalization, Headwaters, and Living Shorelines.

Litter pollution threatens the safety of our water & the integrity of our region's greatest natural resource

Buffalo Niagara Waterkeeper has led some of our region's largest cleanup efforts to prevent pollution from entering our waterways. Over the past 30 years, these events have grown into highly anticipated experiences that motivate, educate, and unite thousands of Western New Yorkers to be clean water advocates.

This Earth Day weekend, the Spring Sweep will bring together thousands volunteers to prevent tens of thousands of pounds of litter from entering our local waterways, while educating and raising awareness about water pollution and beautifying our environment.

The Spring Sweep is the local event during the Great Lakes Cleanup, a basin-wide series of events led by Buffalo Niagara Waterkeeper alongside eight partner organizations throughout the Great Lakes Watershed.

Scajaquada Creek is one of the most polluted, inaccessible and impaired waterways in New York State

Our community has a once in a generation opportunity to address and remedy the problems that affect Scajaquada Creek and transform the Scajaquada Corridor into a destination embraced by Buffalo's Blue Economy. Waterkeeper has done this once before, through our international award-winning work restoring the Buffalo River, but a key piece to success is community support and investment.

Scajaquada September is month-long campaign dedicated to raising awareness to the many challenges and opportunities surrounding Scajaquada Creek while raising funds to further Buffalo Niagara Waterkeeper's vision for a restored Scajaquada.

The month will begin with a press event and cleanup along Scajaquada Creek. Virtual engagements and education will take place throughout the month. The 2nd annual 'Scajaquada Scavenger Hunt' fundraiser expects dozens of teams to explore the Scajaquada Creek Corridor, solving clues and completing activities while engaging with the environment and nearby attractions and businesses, culminating in a post-hunt celebration.

A few words from some longtime partners...

“Buffalo Niagara Waterkeeper stands out for playing a key role in the environmental and economic renaissance of the Buffalo River, attracting and leveraging millions of dollars into making the river clean and accessible to all.”

“I invest in Buffalo Niagara Waterkeeper’s work because they make things happen for our waterfronts and our region. Their work makes Buffalo better for all of us, which is what our city needs right now. Anyone that drinks or looks at the water should be supportive of Waterkeeper’s effort to protect and restore it.”

2022 Corporate Partnerships

Buffalo Niagara Waterkeeper® protects and restores our water and surrounding ecosystems for the benefit of current and future generations.

We protect clean water, we restore the health of ecosystems, we connect people to water, we inspire economic growth & community engagement.

Education and Engagement

We train and educate community members in environmental science and stewardship and connect people to water to create a new generation of guardians that work to improve water quality and public access.

Living Shorelines

We implement innovative methods and approaches to restore degraded shorelines throughout the entire Niagara River Watershed that enhance water quality, habitat integrity, and natural functions.

Headwaters

We strive to protect the undeveloped headwater forests and wetlands that serve as a filter for drinking water flowing into the Niagara River, and the Great Lakes. By preserving this critical acreage, the health of the entire region will be protected for future generations.

Waterway Revitalization

We restore impaired waterways through research, technical planning, partnership building, and implementation. The Buffalo River international success story demonstrates improved community stewardship, public access and increased economic activity.

Scajaquada Creek

Through the coordination of stakeholders and partners in the Scajaquada Creek Sub-Watershed, we will be able to implement a holistic, community-driven restoration effort of the entire creek system. The Scajaquada Creek Watershed can once again become a thriving waterway with health habitats and reconnected communities.
